

Problem sets

3.1	Bits and bites	27
3.2	What was the signal?	27
3.3	Sunshine or rain?	27
3.4	Debtor solvency	27
3.5	Medical testing	28
3.6	The minimum redundancy alphabet	28
3.7	The exam fairy	28
3.8	Do all Cretans lie?	28
3.9	Expected surprises	28
4.1	Signal value	56
4.2	A perfect forecast	57
4.3	Knowing one's bank	57
4.4	The value of precision in the Elementary Game	57
4.5	Information and insurance	57
4.6	Who is the better expert?	58
4.7	Information as a substitute for liquidity	58
4.8	Bad news	59
4.9	"Der Ritt über den Bodensee"	59
4.10	Should doctors tell the truth?	59
5.1	Internet search	80
5.2	Reading headlines	80
5.3	Clustered search	80
5.4	Shopping around	81
5.5	Waiting for information	81
5.6	Mediocrity	81
5.7	Forensic evidence	81
5.8	Free to stop	81
6.1	A joke shortage?	110
6.2	The equilibrium price of information	110
6.3	Is information a public good?	110
6.4	Bank monitoring	111
6.5	Cooperation with unequal talent	111
6.6	Research teams	111

xviii Problem sets

6.7	Open source software	111
6.8	A patent buyout	112
6.9	Myratings Inc.	113
6.10	Knowledge banks	113
6.11	Information acquisition in teams	113
7.1	Aggregating heterogenous information	143
7.2	Airline safety	143
7.3	Target zones	143
7.4	The intra-agency market	144
7.5	Market data based supervision	144
8.1	Insider information	171
8.2	Island hopping	172
8.3	The two commanders	172
8.4	Last chance	172
8.5	Individuals versus groups	172
8.6	Miss Switzerland	172
9.1	Linux or Windows?	201
9.2	A rational echo?	201
9.3	Bank runs	202
9.4	Cats and banks	202
9.5	The propensity to run	202
9.6	Bank run versus prisoner's dilemma	202
9.7	The remains of the day	202
9.8	Pulling the brakes	202
10.1	As wise as before	224
10.2	Learning from others	225
10.3	A likely case?	225
10.4	The probability of a good cascade	225
10.5	Investing with rivals	225
10.6	Convergent behavior	225
10.7	The internet	225
10.8	Crime and enforcement	226
11.1	Inflation expectations in Poland	249
11.2	Telling your type	250
11.3	An example of inattentive consumers	250
11.4	Central bank communication	251
12.1	Misleading signals	271
12.2	Winner's curse in a Uniform distribution	271
12.3	Bidding and the number of bidders	271
12.4	Takeover bid	271
12.5	IPO	272
12.6	Transparency	272
12.7	Ali and Baba	272
13.1	Getting a lemon	302
13.2	Gains from trade and adverse selection	302

13.3	Professor versus plumber	302
13.4	Life insurance versus pension funds	302
13.5	Annuity contract with operating cost	303
13.6	Should construction workers subsidize professors?	303
13.7	Endogenous quality	303
14.1	Monopoly versus competition	335
14.2	Unobservable demand	335
14.3	Subordinated debt	335
14.4	Beta Julia	336
14.5	Gill Bates	336
14.6	The new headquarters	336
14.7	Baby signals	337
15.1	Your value	364
15.2	Risk-averse bidders	365
15.3	The optimal reservation price	365
15.4	Efficiency or revenue?	365
16.1	Going off-piste	397
16.2	Sharing a pie	397
16.3	Making money work	398
16.4	Cork!	398
16.5	The pillory	398
16.6	The price of sweat	398
16.7	Poor CEOs	399
16.8	Deposit insurance	399
17.1	Fact-free learning	430
17.2	Procrastination	430
17.3	Protect Me From What I Want	430
17.4	“Do we now always have to do what we want?”	430
17.5	The road to hell	431
17.6	The planner and the doer	431
17.7	Uncle Scrooge	431
17.8	Hyperbolic discounting	431